

TONY LAZZARO

Denver Broncos

Director of Football Information Systems

Tony Lazzaro is currently in his 12th season managing the football information systems for the Denver Broncos. In his current role, Lazzaro oversees custom built in-house applications as well as third-party software utilized within all areas of football operations – including the coaching, college scouting, professional personnel, labor and salary cap management, strength and conditioning, medical and video operations departments.

Lazzaro joined the Broncos after spending the previous four seasons with the San Diego Chargers. He served several roles while working with the Chargers and quickly elevated from an intern to overseeing the department.

He earned his master's degree with a concentration in technology management from National University in 2001 and his bachelor's degree in business administration from Colorado State University in 1998.
